

Online Reporting Survey Results

The following results came to light in a survey of 31 institutional investors, family offices, and advisors conducted by Netage Solutions in the fourth quarter of 2009. The survey reveals that while limited partners (LPs) and their advisors overwhelmingly agree that online reporting systems help increase transparency, a large portion of alternative investment firms may be hindering their capital-raising efforts by not providing investors with access to such systems.

I prefer to invest with alternative asset managers that report online to investors.

What percentage of your alternative asset managers provides a secure online portal for viewing and downloading reports and other information?
